Geographies Of Writing Inhabiting Places And Encountering Difference:

Geographies of Writing Nedra Reynolds, 2007-09-03 Twenty first century technological innovations have revolutionized the way we experience space causing an increased sense of fragmentation danger and placelessness In Geographies of Writing Inhabiting Places and Encountering Difference Nedra Reynolds addresses these problems in the context of higher education arguing that theories of writing and rhetoric must engage the metaphorical implications of place without ignoring materiality Geographies of Writing makes three closely related contributions one theoretical to reimagine composing as spatial material and visual one political to understand the sociospatial construction of difference and one pedagogical to teach writing as a set of spatial practices Aided by seven maps and illustrations that reinforce the book's visual rhetoric Geographies of Writing shows how composition tasks and electronic space function as conduits for navigating reality

Place-Based Writing in Action Rob Montgomery, Amanda Montgomery, 2024-02-06 This text presents a variety of ways for students to meet traditional instructional goals in writing while also learning how writing can help them become stewards of the natural world and advocates for their own communities Built on a foundation of emerging research and theory and grounded in the lived reality of teachers this book explores the material and virtual worlds as places that can be equally productive as sources for authentic writing Readers will find place based writing activities lesson ideas and samples of student work in every chapter With practical and classroom tested ideas Place Based Writing in Action is a useful text for preservice and in service English teachers as well as any educator who wants to move the act of writing beyond the four walls of the classroom

Postcomposition Sidney I Dobrin, 2011-06-02 Leading a burgeoning self critical moment in composition studies and writing program administration Postcomposition is a fundamental reconsideration of the field that attempts to shift the focus away from pedagogy and writing subjects and toward writing itself In this forceful and reasoned critique of many of the primary tenets and widely accepted institutional structures of composition studies Sidney I Dobrin delivers a series of shocks to the system meant to disrupt the pedagogical imperative and move beyond the existing limits of the discipline Dobrin evaluates the current state of composition studies underscoring the difference between composition and writing and arguing that the field's focus on the administration of writing students and its historically imposed prohibition on theory greatly limit what can be understood about writing. Instead, he envisions a more significant approach to writing, one that questions the field's conservative allegiance to subject and administration and reconsiders writing as spatial and ecological. Using concepts from ecocomposition, spatial theory, network theory, complexity theory, and systems theory, Postcomposition lays the groundwork for a networked theory of writing and advocates the abandonment of administration as a useful part of the field. He also challenges the usefulness of rhetoric in writing studies, showing how writing exceeds rhetoric. Postcomposition is a detailed consideration of how posthumanism affects the field's understanding of subjectivity. It also tears at the seams of the contingent labor problem. As he articulates his own frustrations with the conservatism of composition studies and builds on previous critiques of the discipline, Dobrin stages a courageous and inevitably polemical intellectual challenge to the entrenched ideas and assumptions that have defined composition studies.

The Locations of Composition Christopher J. Keller, Christian R. Weisser, 2007-07-05 Explores the concepts of space and place within composition studies

Key Theoretical Frameworks Angela M. Haas, Michelle F. Eble, 2018-10-17 Drawing on social justice methodologies and cultural studies scholarship, Key Theoretical Frameworks for Teaching Technical Communication in the Twenty First Century offers new curricular and pedagogical approaches to teaching technical communication. Including original essays by emerging and established scholars, the volume educates students, teachers, and practitioners on identifying and assessing issues of social justice and globalization. The collection provides a valuable resource for teachers new to translating social justice theories to the classroom by presenting concrete examples related to technical communication. Each contribution adopts a particular theoretical approach, explains the theory, situates it within disciplinary scholarship, contextualizes the approach from the author's experience, and offers additional teaching applications. The first volume of its kind, Key Theoretical Frameworks for Teaching Technical Communication in the Twenty First Century links the theoretical with the pedagogical in order to articulate use and assess social justice frameworks for designing and teaching courses in technical communication. Contributors: Godwin Y. Agboka, Matthew Cox, Marcos Del Hierro, Jessica Edwards, Erin A. Frost, Elise Verzosa, Hurley, Natasha N. Jones, Cruz Medina, Marie E. Moeller, Kristen R. Moore, Donnie Johnson, Sackey, Gerald Savage, J. Blake Scott, Barbi Smyser, Fauble, Kenneth Walker, Rebecca Walton

Teaching/Writing in Thirdspaces Rhonda C. Grego, Nancy S. Thompson, 2008 Rhonda C. Grego and Nancy S. Thompson argue that because the studio is physically and institutionally outside but alongside both students' other coursework and the hierarchy of the institution, it represents a thirdspace, a unique position in which to effect institutional change. Teaching Writing in Thirdspaces provides an alternative approach to traditional basic writing courses that can be adopted in educational institutions of all types and at all levels.

BOOK JACKET Content Management George Pullman, Gu Baotung, 2017-03-02 This collection of articles is the first attempt by academics and professional writers to delve into the world of content management systems The knowledge economy's greatest asset and primary problem is information management finding it validating it re purposing it keeping it current and keeping it safe In the last few years content management software has become as common as word processing software was five years ago But unlike word processors which are designed for single authorization and local storage content management systems are designed to accommodate large scale information production with many authors providing many different pieces of information kept in a web accessible database any piece of which might find its way into electronic documents that the author doesn't even know exist These software systems are complex to say the least and their impact on the field of writing will be immense

The Routledge Handbook of Literature and Space Robert Tally Jr.,2017-01-06 The spatial turn in literary studies is transforming the way we think of the field The Routledge Handbook of Literature and Space maps the key areas of spatiality within literary studies offering a comprehensive overview but also pointing towards new and exciting directions of study The interdisciplinary and global approach provides a thorough introduction and includes thirty two essays on topics such as Spatial theory and practice Critical methodologies Work sites Cities and the geography of urban experience Maps territories readings The contributors to this volume demonstrate how a variety of romantic realist modernist and postmodernist narratives represent the changing social spaces of their world and of our own world system today Writing on the Edge ,2010 Publications of the Modern Language Association of America ,2006

Toward Sustainable Literacies David Michael Grant,2007 Democratic Places Through Democratic Means with Participatory Evaluative Action Research (PEAR), a Model of Inquiry for Habits and Habitats where Public Life Matters Annalisa Lewis Raymer,2007 How the lack of public space diminishes our democratic society isn't always apparent to people who've not experienced a vital pedestrian public realm When we no longer traverse any ground other than commercial private territory in the course of our daily rounds what happens to public life and our sense of people as human beings and citizens The loss of public space the destruction of our civic habitat holds dire consequences for not only the Homo Civitas but also our ability to enact the wide range of humanity's quirky messy erratic gifted ways of being beyond the narrow sliver of those behaviors readily accommodated in environments engineered to increase consumption How can a society be democratic without places for being persons rather than consumers Overview Changing of Knowledge in Composition Lance Massey,Richard C. Gebhardt,2011-07-16 Lance Massey and Richard Gebhardt offer in this collection many signs that composition again faces a moment of precariousness even as it did in the 1980s the years of the great divorce from literary studies The contours of writing in the university again are rapidly changing making the objects of scholarship in composition again unstable Composition is poised to move not from modern to postmodern but from process to postprocess from a service oriented field to a research driven discipline Some would say we are already there Momentum is building to replace composition and the pedagogical imperative long implied in that term with a writing studies model devoted to the study of composition as a fundamental tool of and force within all areas of human activity Appropriately contributors here use Stephen M North s 1987 book The Making of Knowledge in Composition to frame and background their discussion as they look at both the present state of the field and its potential futures As in North s volume The Changing of Knowledge in Composition describes a body of research and pedagogy brimming with conflicting claims methodologies and politics and with little consensus regarding the proper subjects and modes of inquiry The deep ambivalence within the field itself is evident in this collection Contributors here envision composition both as retaining its commitment to broad based generalized writing instruction and as heading toward content based vertical writing programs in departments and programs of writing studies They both challenge and affirm composition s pedagogical heritage And they sound both sanguine and pessimistic notes about composition s future New Formations ,2005 Publications of the State of Illinois ,2004

Representations LuMing Mao,Morris Young,2008-11-28 As the essays collectively argue Asian American rhetoric not only reflects and responds to existing social and cultural conditions and practices but also interacts with and influences such conditions and practices In the process it becomes a rhetoric of becoming that always negotiates with adjusts to and yields an imagined identity and agency that is Asian American Composing Other Spaces Douglas Reichert Powell,John Paul Tassoni,2009 From publisher s description These essays ask how place and space shape the conflicts challenges and opportunities of writing instruction What new tactics for writing and the teaching of writing are required to adequately account for and engage with the complexities of composition s spaces and places Tactics of Hope Paula Mathieu,2005 Institutions of higher learning seem traditionally isolated from the realities of the neighborhoods around them But increasingly colleges and universities have thrown open their gates and made a public turn toward school community partnerships bringing literacy activities to the streets and service learning opportunities to faculty staff and student volunteers Paula Mathieu is one such faculty volunteer and in Tactics of Hope she examines the workings behind the public turn in composition studies at several institutions Recounting various types of initiatives she describes how these ideas for outreach were received by both local residents and members of the campus and she outlines how each side worked together to relieve town gown tensions More important Mathieu examines why a tactical not strategic approach to outreach provides the most flexibility for all involved and creates the best opportunities for real learning and deeper interaction between volunteers and their community Outside the dormitories the classrooms and the gates of every university live people who can benefit from public academic partnerships And on the inside of those very same structures are people who can benefit equally Read Tactics of Hope and discover ideas and tactics for tapping the transformative power of learning on and from the streets JAC ,2007
