Geographies Of Young People Geographies Of Young People:

The Geographies of Young People Stuart C Aitken, 2005-07-08 The Geographies of Young People traces the changing scientific and societal notions of what it is to be a young person and argues that there is a need to rethink how we view childhood spaces child development and the politics of growing up This book brings coherency to the growing field of children s geographies by arguing that although most of it does not prescribe solutions to the moral assault against young people it nonetheless offers appropriate insights into difference and diversity and how young people are constructed Other books in the series Culture Place Health forthcoming Seduction of Place forthcoming Celtic Geographies forthcoming Timespace Bodies Mind and Body Spaces Children s Geographies Leisure Tourism Geographies Thinking Space Geopolitical Traditions Embodied Geographies Animal Spaces Beastly Places Closet Space Clubbing De centering Sexualities Entanglements of Power

Geographies of Young People Stuart C. Aitken, 2001 Doing Children's Geographies Lorraine van Blerk, Mike Kesby, 2013-10-31 Doing Children s Geographies provides a useful resource for all those embarking on research with young people Drawing on reflections from original cutting edge research undertaken across three continents the book focuses on the challenges researchers face when working with children youth and their families The book is divided into three sections The first section provides alternatives to some of the difficulties researchers face and highlights methodological innovations as geographers uncover new and exciting ways of working The second part specifically addresses the issues surrounding children and youth s participation providing critiques of current practice and offering alternatives for increasing young people s involvement in research design Finally the book broadens to a consideration of wider areas of concern for those working with children and youth This section discusses the nature of childhood in relation to research the place of emotions in research with young people and the process of undertaking applied research This book was previously published as a special issue of Children s Geographies

Establishing Geographies of Children and Young People Tracey Skelton, Stuart Aitken, 2016-05-10 Geographies of children and young people is a rapidly emerging sub discipline within human geography There is now a critical mass of established academic work key names within academia growing numbers of graduate students and expanding numbers of university level taught courses There are also professional training programmes at national scales and in international contexts that work specifically with children and young people In addition to a productive journal of Children s Geographies there s a range of monographs textbooks and edited collections focusing on children and young people published by all the major academic presses then there is a substantive body of work on younger people within human geography and active authors and researchers working within international contexts to warrant a specific Major Reference Work on children s and young people s geographies The volumes and sections are structured by themes which then reflect the broader geographical locations of the research Geographies of Children, Youth and Families Louise Holt, 2010-12-21 This edited collection brings together international experts from the vibrant and growing field of geographies of children youth and families Designed as an introduction to the topic this book provides an overview of current conceptual and theoretical debates surrounding geographies of children youth and families and gives a wide range of examples of cutting edge research from a variety of national contexts across the globe The theme of disentangling the socio spatial contexts of young people and or their families advances debates in the field by emphasising the context of young people s social agency Geographies of Children Youth and Families is an invaluable course text for undergraduate and postgraduate students of geography and the social sciences as well as being of interest to students and practitioners of education youth work social policy and social work Geographies of Global Issues Nicola

Ansell,Natascha Klocker,Tracey Skelton, Cool Places Tracey Skelton,Gill Valentine,2005-08-18 Cool Places explores the contrasting experiences of contemporary youth The chapters draw on techno music and ecstasy in Germany clubbing in London global backpacking and gangs in Santa Cruz as well as expereinces at home on the streets and seeking employment The contributors use these examples to explore representation and resistance and geographical concepts of scale and place in young people s lives within social cultural and feminist studies to focus upon the complexities of youth cultures and their spatial representations and interactions Contributors Shane Blackman Sophie Bowlby Myrna Margulies Breitbart Deborah Chambers Luke Deforges Claire Dwyer Keith Hetherington Cindi Katz Heinz Herman Kruger Marion Leonard Sally Lloyd Evans Tim Lucas Sara McNamee Ben Malbon Doreen Massey Robina Mohammad David Oswell David Parker Birgit Richard Susan Ruddick Tracey Skelton Fiona Smith Kevin Stevenson Gill Valentine and Paul Watt Space, Place and

Environment Karen Nairn,Peter G. Kraftl,Tracey Skelton, Critical Geographies of Childhood and Youth Peter Kraftl,John Horton,Faith Tucker,2012-03-21 This original book explores the importance of geographical processes for policies and professional practices related to childhood and youth Contributors from a wide range of disciplinary backgrounds explore how concepts such as place scale mobility and boundary making are important for policies and practices in diverse contexts Chapters present both comprehensive cutting edge academic research and critical reflections by practitioners working in diverse contexts giving the volume wide appeal The focus on the role of geographical processes in policies and professional practices that affect young people provides new critical insights into contemporary issues and debates The contributions show how local and national concerns remain central to many youth programmes they also highlight how youth policies are becoming increasingly globalised Examples are taken from the UK the Americas and Africa The chapters are informed by and advance contemporary theoretical approaches in human geography sociology anthropology and youth work and will be of interest to academics and higher level students in those disciplines The book will also appeal to policy makers and professionals who work with young people encouraging them to critically reflect upon the role of geographical processes in their own work Movement, Mobilities and Journeys Allen White,Caitríona Ní Laoire, Children's Geographies Sarah

L. Holloway,Gill Valentine,2004-11-23 Children s Geographies is an overview of a rapidly expanding area of cutting edge research Drawing on original research and extensive case studies in Europe North and South America Africa and Asia the book analyses children s experiences of playing living and learning The diverse case studies range from an historical analysis of gender relations in nineteenth century North American playgrounds through to children s experiences of after school care in contemporary Britain to street cultures amongst homeless children in Indonesia at the end of the twentieth century Threaded through this empirical diversity is a common engagement with current debates about the nature of childhood The individual chapters draw on contemporary sociological understandings of children s competence as social actors In so doing they not only illustrate the importance of such an approach to our understandings of children s geographies they also contribute to current debates about spatiality in the social studies of childhood

Critical Geographies of Childhood and Youth

John Horton (Senior lecturer in geography), 2012

Children, Education and Geography

Lauren Hammond, Mary Biddulph, Simon Catling, John H. McKendrick, 2022-11-30 This book examines the intersections between children education and geography With a particular focus on children s geographies and geographies of education the book draws upon cutting edge research to consider how geographical education can be enhanced through increased engagement with these fields The book is underpinned by the position that the lives of children and young people are inherently geographical as are educational institutions systems and processes The volume explores the ways in which the diverse relationships between children education and geography can enrich research and work with and for children and young people Chapters in this book consider how injustices are re produced through education Chapters also explore how insights generated by thinking in and across geography and education can be used to support and empower young people in both formal education and in their everyday lives Ultimately this book is written for children and young people Not as the readership but as people often marginalised in decision making at a variety of scales in education and who we contend should be at the heart of all educational thinking The book is of value to undergraduate and post graduate students interested in geography education and children's geographies as well as teachers of geography both new and experienced The Beginning of Politics Kirsi Pauliina Kallio, Jouni Hakli, 2016-02-05 The conventional wisdom according to which children's lives should be safe from adult concerns tends to situate them categorically outside the political. Thus understood children become political agents when they reach maturity and eligibility to formal participation. Alternatively political skills and competences may be seen to develop gradually through political socialization. Both views are challenged in recent scholarship on youthful politics beyond the formal adult centered political world. This book considers politics as it appears and unfolds in children and young people's everyday lives. The collection problematizes several key concepts in the research field and introduces a relational reading of youthful political agency based on social spatial and political theorization. The chapters engage with youthful realities in Sri Lanka, Palestine, Sweden, New Zealand, the US and the UK, revealing a variety of ways in which children and youth are important political actors in their own right. The book also includes an extensive literary review on the study of children and young people's politics in the past decade. This book was originally published as a special issue of Space and Polity.

Laboring and Learning Tatek Abebe, Johanna Lesley Waters, Tracey Skelton, Children and Young People's Relationships Samantha Punch, Kay Tisdall, 2016-04-08 This book challenges the current state of childhood studies by exploring children and young people's agency and relationships. It considers how recent theorisations of relationships and relational processes can move childhood studies forward, particularly in relation to rethinking claims of children and young people's agency and uncritical assertions around children and young people's participation and voice. It does this by bringing together case studies of children's inter-generational and intra-generational relationships from both the Majority and Minority Worlds. The main themes include negotiated power, agency across contexts and negotiations of identity. The chapters show both the heritage of childhood studies, particularly within the UK, and where it may be going. One of the key aims of the book is to add to the limited but growing cross-world dialogue that encourages cross-cultural learning from research and practice in both Majority and Minority World contexts, leading towards a more integrated global approach to childhood studies. This book was published as a special issue of Children's Geographies. Space, Landscape and Environment Karen Nairn, Peter Kraftl, Tracey Skelton, 2017-09-10 Geographies of children and young people is a rapidly emerging sub-discipline within human geography. There is now a critical mass of established academic work, key names within academia, growing numbers of graduate students and expanding numbers of university level taught courses. There are also professional training programmes at national scales and in international contexts that work specifically with children and young people. In addition to a productive journal of Children's Geographies, there's a range of monographs, textbooks and edited collections focusing on children and young people published by all the major academic presses. Then there is a substantive body of work on younger people within human geography and active authors and researchers working within international contexts to warrant a specific Major Reference Work on children's and young people's geographies. The volumes and sections are structured by themes which then reflect the broader geographical locations of the research Global Childhoods Stuart Aitken, 2013-09-13 This astute book initiates a broad discussion from a variety of different disciplines about how we place children nationally globally and within development discourses Unlike other books of its kind it does not seek to dwell solely on the abiding complexities of local comparisons Rather it elaborates larger concerns about the changing nature of childhood young people s experiences their citizenship and the embodiment of their political identities as they are embedded in the processes of national development and globalization In particular this book concentrates on three main issues nation building and developing children child participation and activism in the context of development and globalization and children s live in the context of what has been called the end of development These are relatively broad research perspectives that find focus in what the authors term reproducing and developing children as a key issue of national and global concern They further argue that understanding children and reproduction is key to understanding globalization Geography, Education and the Future Graham Butt, 2011-03-17
